Sydney City still alive

Sydney City Is NOT about to lie down and die, as some people have been whispering.

President Frank Lowy this week refuted rumors that the club even considered withdrawing from the PSL because of its sharp fall in sublice upon the control of the control o public support.

"There is no chance of that and we're not even contemplating such a move," HE

"There is no chance that we would pull out today, tomorrow or the next day,"he said.

"Of course, we do have some people in the club who say let's chuck it all in but I can assure you this is not our club policy."

club policy."
In the last week or so,Sydney was swept by rumors that Sydney City, sponsored by the Hakoah club, was in two minds about continuing.

Several sources claimed that the enormous financial burdens and paltry public support were no longer acceptable to many members.

One section of the mem-bership is believed to be keen to return to the old Hakoah name.

Grassby's warning

The ASF will have to be very careful with their regulation to change all ethnic names, according to the Commissioner for Community Relations, Al

Grassby.
Last week, when approached on the subject, he said that he had not read a copy of the ASF's regulations, but from what he had heard he felt that the anti-discrimination act be brought into operation against it.

"With any such rules or ethnic names and identities the ASF or any sporting body for that matter, would have to tread very carefully in the light of the law," he said. "Our aim should be to help migrants blend into society, accepting Australia for what it is, and being accepted for what they are. "But if we go around telling them that their names, and identities are unacceptable to the 'Australian community at large' then how do we expect these new migrants to really believe that we want them and their culture?

"It is a very serious subject and one which the ASF should approach very cautiously because of its far reaching effects, not only those involved with pect better response but we are not impatient.

"The problems of imprroving attendances is a collective one and not confined to Sydney City.

"Recently the five Sydney clubs accepted my proposal that we all contribute $10,000 towards a joint promotional fund for 1980.

"Soon,I hope,we will have a plan from our committee how Frank Lowy,head of the large Westfield Corporation and realist doesn't have many realist, doesnt't have any illusions about clubs which fail to make a public impact in the long run. "Clubs which fail to attract attendances will sooner or later disappear."

Two of Sydney's oldest and most successful clubs are facing a crisis of a different nature.

Sydney City's major worry is that despite gallant efforts their support has been dwindling to dismal levels.

APIA is going to put up a stiff fight to retain its name at least until all other clubs follow suit.

Earlier this year APIA had accepted an ASF order to change to a district name after one year,as a pre-condition for their admittance

"This was actually not a request but an order,"APIA president Nick Papallo said this week.

"We had no choice in the matter.

"They would feel that were treated more harshly than other clubs who,for the time being anyway,don't have to make name changes.

"This makes it very difficult for our members to accept the order."

Papallo said APIA was about to return to Lambert Park and the ground has always been associated with the APIA.name. the APIA.name.

He said the ASF should give them a chance to re-establish themselves there and to lure back their once mighty following.

"It's clear that the ASF feels strongly about this issue and will want the clubs in all States to change their names sooner or later.

"Most people are not happy about it.

"Personally I am grateful to Sir Arthur George for having helped us into the PSL in the first place and wouldn't like to have any misundesrstan-dings with him over this

"However,we are still making a formal application to defer the order obliging us to drop the APIA name."

We Are Not Alone

Some people claim that the Australian media will never support soccer so long as it has any ethnic image.

Those foreign names just have to go,to make rom for have to go, to make room for more proper and respectable ones.

Others, just as vehemen-tly, deny this. They claim that the whole business is a smokescreen,a futile at-tempt to appease racists and bigots who might—just might—still exist among us. Then there are stories that certain Media Moguis openly regard soccer as a wogball and refuse to give it any exposure.

I'm not sure who is right! do have an opinion but I often disagree with it.

Which takes me back to ne starting point, the point, the Australian media.

Last week,in Melbour-ne,the fencing world championships were held with teams from all over the globe taking part.

This was the first time Australia had such an

The. Sydney Press managed to plug almost all leaks about the event:the CIA and KGB would have been proud of the total secrecy which surrounded the titles.

Last Friday the five Sydney dailles printed,ex-pressed in tabloid sizes, a total of 30½ pages—more than 210 columns—on "sport."

For the sake of accuracy,we counted It:The Australian had 5,the Herald 4½,the Telegraph 7,the Sun 5 and the Mirror 9 pages. Pages and pages about major events such as the sore ribcage of a two-yearold bitch about to race at Dapto, the pearls of wisdom of rugby coaches and other delicacies. But not a word, not a single syllable, not a solitary result even in a small print such as this about the world championships in fencing. Which makes me ask:is tencing also an ethnic sport?

The NSW Federation is almost certain to refuse to comply with the ASF executive decision which calls for the abolishment of ethnic club names.

President Karl Rodny said this week he was personally strongly opposed to the directive and so were most of his executive members.

"First of all I can't see any merit in this" he said.

"Secondly I am opposed to all measures of force. "Will somebody please tell me where our soccer would be without these ethnic clubs and where our supportwhatever it may amount to-

would come from,"?
Karl Rodny said the NSW Federation would discuss the matter in greater detail this

"I hope it won't come to that but I feel strongly about this issue to accept a break with the ASF rather than submit to this order," he

We have also learned that some clubs plan to send a delegation to Al Grassby, Ethnic Affairs Commisioner, seeking his views and, if necessary, assistance.

These clubs claim that the ASF ruling is discriminatory. It appears that the ASF will have only two options in this matter:to force the issue no matter what the reactions may be or to back down.

In our opinion, the ASF should defer implemenation of the decision. Tragically but not atypically of Australian soccer, the decision was made on emotional and not rational grounds.

A touchy,controversial and complex matter like this cannot and shouldn't be left to a two-day meeting.

Sir Arthur George.

Experts in the field of migration, law, advertising, marketing, press affairs perhaps other subjects should be recruited, briefed and given as much time as needed to come up with the answers. Most people tend to take a simplistic approach: they either believe that ethnic names retard soccer or stubbornly fight what they regard as a red herring.

The ASF should set up a serious and qualified study group to delve into the pros problem.

Why not do things properly and thoroughly for a With due respect, the ASF executive members are not any better experts on the subject than members of the larger soccer public.

To pretend otherwise would be silly.
In fact, one is rather surprised that they were game enough to make any decision at all---right or wrong---without fully considering all the possible implications.

EDENSOR PARK King Tomislav (5th div) maintained their runners up position with an easy victory over Concordia last Saturday with a 5-1 win. By the 45 minute mark M.Poles had scored twice for Edensor and after the break J. Gajtan and I Natkovic both scored and an own goal made it five. Edensor Park's outstanding player was defender Ivan Natkovic. The club will be host to representatives from all States at a special meeting to be held at the King Tomislav Croatian club on Saturday, September 1, at 10am of the Croatian Soccer Association of Australia. The meeting will discuss the '79 Croatian Cup to be held in Perth and the '80 event to be held at the King Tomislav Croatian Oval. Michael Furjanic, president of this Association will be present. On the same night, the club's soccer ball will be held with presentations being made to junior, senior and ladies coaches. tations being made to junior, senior and ladies coaches.

BATHURST '75 (2nd div) were more than pleased to win three out of four points on the weekend to take out the 2nd division premiership for 1979. On Saturday Bathurst drew 1-1 with Dee Why. On Sunday Bathurst were host to Gladesville-Hornsby in an entertaining game. The half time score was 2-1 with goals from Peter Hadley and Steve Turner. Bathurst gave a fine display of good team work with Adrian Pickup being a good influence through his midfield position as well as scoring his team's third goal.

The 3rd division second grade final will be between CAM-PBELLTOWN CITY and BONDI MARINE. Campbelltown City convincingly defeated Nth.Bankstown 2-0, the scorers being Mark Davies, Neil Greenway. In the other semi-final, Bondi Marine v Ashcroft the game went to extra time after finishing 2-2 at full time. For Bondi the winning goal was scored by Soren Hansen and the other three goals were netted by Doug Bennicke and Dave Coleman.

MACQUARIE UNI (5th div) cemented their place in the top four of division 5 with a hard fought but well deserved 2-2 draw with the leaders Canley Heights last Saturday. An early Tony Bell goal (on his 21st birthday) was negated by two Canley penalties before brilliant lead-up work by Bobby Jeffries gave Wayne Bridgewood a chance to equalise. Macquarie seconds gave Canley Heights reserves a scare with a 2-1 lead well into the second half. Scorers were Clive Diamond and Alister McLeod again, before a determined Heights recovery gave them both points. The club is really proud of their first grade team making the semis and is very confident after taking three points out of four from the top two teams in the last two games, of doing well in the end of season series.

PADDINGTON SPANISH (4th div) seems to have missed the semi-finals for this season and, like Bonnyrigg Eagles, this is the first time the club has not made the top four since joining the Federation. Paddington, despite winning 5-0 against Nth.Rocks, still could not match the goal difference of West Holroyd, who also were on 26 points. The goal scorers for the Spanish were Kipic (1) De Lasio (2) Gargia (1) and Secretary (4) It is worth noting that a new addition to and Sauchuca (1). It is worth noting that a new addition to the club this season has been David Jones (nick-named Rolls Royce). David, a dynamic midfielder is 27 and was previously playing for Joy in the Sydney Amateur Soccer

GUILDFORD COUNTY (2nd div) moved to a 20 points final position after defeating Lane Cove at Guildford Park last weekend 2-1. Guildford's first goal was scored by Martyn Hoare in the 30th minute with a nice side flick from a cross by Robert Tait. The second Guildford goal was scored by Steven Moss after a good cross from Graeme Vibert in the 70th minute. Lane Cove scored from the penalty spot in the two minutes before half time when the County goal-keeper saved on the first attempt, but on the retake Lane Cove's midfielder John Bykirk made sure of it. On the day Guildford were the strongest, deserving the points with midfielder, G. Vibert and defender G. Robinson playing well in their positions. Outstanding player for Lane Cove was defender George Iro.

NAMATJIRA (4th div) finished the competition second to Nth Ryde, the premiers. The second grade team for Namat-jira, with 10 men, scored a 3-0 win against Maroubra despite a penalty shot being kicked out by Doug Spargo. The Namatiira goals came from bad back passes by Maroubra defense and the scorers were Dave Nolan and Nick Kacir (2).

WEST ST.GEORGE (5th div) reserve grade gave a good display to complete their season with a win of 7-0 against Auburn Jun. Ray Cush scored four of the goals. First grade played a scrappy game for a 0-1 defeat with the only goal being a converted penalty by Auburn Jun. This goal gave Auburn the points and a move out of the relegation zone. ed a great time at their i social outing to the Les Girls.

The 3rd division semifinals gave very close results with a single goal being scored in each of the first grade matches. At Artarmon Reserve in the first semifinal, the winning goal for ARTARMON against Campbelltown came in the middle of the second half when the City 'keeper, Ian Noy failed to intercept a ball and Frank Knight was on hand to head it inches over the line. The game did not reach any great heights with City on top only for brief periods early in each half and ches over the line. The game did not reach any great heights with City on top only for brief periods early in each half and near to scoring only on a few instances. In the second semifinal, NTH.BANKSTOWN the 5-0 winners against Ash-croft last week bowed out of the competition by the odd goal against the same team. The Norths' usual team co-ordination was lacking and were not able to maintain the pressure against Ashcroft. Ashcroft were without Andy Everett and took the field with most players playing out of position. In the second half Ashcroft dominated the game with attacking football which kept the ball mainly in Norths' goalmouth. The winning goal was scored by the player-coach, Arthur Townsend from a freekick just outside the penalty area. In a rehearsed and clever move the ball was unexpectedly passed backwards by Vlad Knaus to his coach who had only to oblige.

BAULKHAM HILLS (2nd div) played for and received one point from Yagoona last Sunday to retain their fourth spot on the tables. Defense played a well controlled and disciplined game to thwart any attack Yagoona made. The Hills 3rd grade also made fourth spot on the tables with a 4-0 win, scorers being G. Alexander, W. Wright, P. Bright and

Goals: 1-0 Cole (58m), 1-1 Bajevic (pen.64m), 1-2 Bajevic (69m), 1-3 Vladic

This extra game was intended to be a 'friendly', and it was anything but that. Right from the beginning it was obvious that 'Three Goal Cole' was the object of their war of attrition.

Spitting, punching, hacking and abuse emanated from the same two players right through the game, sometimes right in front of the referee without abatement. Only Bajevic, Vladic and Domazos (who was replaced by Vlachos at 60 minutes) could be classed as worthy of a visiting team, the rest were indeed disgraceful.

I would support Vic Migliacolo's Adelaide report that their ability and sportsmanship was below the standards we in Australia have set.

Future tours of this calibre must be refused unless a guarantee on star players making the tour is assured. As a training game for Heidelberg it was O.K., but at $6 a head it was sheer robbery.

A sad thing happened on the way out...

The greyhaired old man leaned back in his faded rocking chair and stared

"Well,grandson," he then said," I'll tell you what did happen to soccer in this country but promise not to cry or I'll get roused on by your mum.

your mum.
"Way back,in the 1940s and 1950s,the game was going along nicely and we had some fine teams, too.
''In 1951, for

ple, Australia did pretty well against an English XI, losing narrowly 17-0 in Sydney. We were on our way to world class.

"Then came the migrants, millions of them and they wanted to change things.
"They said the game needed a shake-up, a new stimulus and what not, so they formed their own clubs.
"Before you could say Jack Robinson, they began to take over. Once we had good little clubs like Lidcombe, Birchgrove, Strathfield and others but soon these were others but soon these were pushed into the background by Hakkabis, Mucurests and Plagues, what have you.

"There was some initial improvement and the crowds did increase slightly,from 200 to about 6000 but it didn't last,These clubs weren't just pushy but also greedy.

"They decided to build their own clubhouses so that they can pour more money into their fancy teams.

"Not one of them realised until much later that what they created wasn't support for soccer but a strong competition for it.

'Gradually they started to have more people in the clubs than at the games and the crowds began to wilt.

"To counter that, they set up a national league and poured millions into it.

"We didn't, of course, we had more sense. We just kept our clubhouses going and sat back watching.

back watching.

"This new league went alright for a while but then things started to go sour once again.
"Crowds became so small that some teams could take all their supporters to away matches in a mini-Cooper.

"A soccer paper one day inted, after the team printed.after lineups.the full names and

"All those smart ethnic presidents running their clubs couldn't guess what they were doing wrong until somebody told them in good old plain Australian.

"One day the assistant to "One day the assistant to the deputy wardrobe mistress at a TV studio summoned the big boss of soccer and told him that the game wouldn't sell because it had a strong ethnic image.

"She even called soccer wogball but otherwise she was real nice and friendly, sort of helpful."

"So the presidents got together and decided to change the names of their clubs. "Hakkabi became Meatpie

After a scrappy, ten-sion-full first half which produced very little good soccer, Sydney City found their old composure and waltzed to an easy victory.

Barnes' well taken first goal, a snap shot on the turn, probably turned the tide; Trenter's close header just after resumption was the end.

The big difference between the two teams was in midfield. Sydney was in midfield. Sydney City were creative and precise, APIA combative, bustling but void of any visible plan.

The APIA defence was jittery throughout, vulnerable to City's swift smooth internassing and smooth interpassing and Dempsey appeared more anxious to conduct a personal war with Trenter than with plugging the gaps in the middle.

Once Sydney City scored their second goal, the contest was over; with a bit more concentration they could have plotted their way to a bonus point.

To their credit, APIA never ceased trying; they ran and tackled and ran again — but without a great deal of imagination and flair.

Only Carruthers really threatened the goal on a few occasions while Reed was safely held in the middle.

The Sydneysiders scored twice in the period and, despite their obvious superiority it took two bad errors by Wishart to allow the final outcome to take place.

Krncevic, out wide on the left, hit a long speculative cross to the far post. Sharne headed the ball to Jankovics and the "other half" nodded

After the interval Saftich introduced Campbell into the attack and Scheinflug immediately showed his respect by audibly ordering Henpoliceman's role.

Footscray gained a previous point in their battle against relegation perhaps deserved

They forced one corner after another but poor finishing marred their good approach work with Lujic the main offender.

After the interval it was all Footscray again but twice in rapid succession they were thwarted by good saves from Denis Boland, ironically on loan from Footscray until the end of the season.

Eventually, Lujic, making up for his first half misses, blasted the ball past Boland from close range after a cun-ning freekick from ning freekick from Palinkas had eluded the South defenders.

It seemed that Footscray had the points in the bag but once again a fatal relapse set in and stole Souths equaliser.

It was a storybook affair too, for Chris Kakan-tonis, who had just come as a second substitute.

Kalafatidis, raiding up-field from the right fullback position, sent in a sharp cross that screamed across the Footscray goalmouth and young Kakantonis was at the right spot to put it past Potter, off the far post. — L. Shurrock

"If there is one thing which has annoyed me this year it has been the length of the season," said Arncliffe Scots secretary Dave Dorlan.

"The season started almost four weeks before the cricket competition had ended, and now it looks almost certain that we will be dragging into the next cricketing year.
"The reason for this is clear

we have too many teams in the State League.

''ideally we should have only 12 or even ten teams in the competition.

"That would allow for the whole program to be com-pleted, leaving enough time at the end of the year for postponed matches to be played.

"The PSL could and should have more sides - though not necessarily from the present

"However, we are a more concentrated competition, and therefore should only have a smaller number of teams," he "Also Sydney just doesn't have grounds to support so much important soccer.

"We have 18 clubs all flighting for good grounds upon which to play entertaining soc-

"It hasn't worked, and I feel we should seriously consider looking at a reduction in the number of teams in the State League," Dave added.

UBURN

"Without a doubt the most annoying thing this year for our club has been the number postponements due to sudden announcements of touring sides," said Auburn's Derek Bedwell.

"We have had so many 'friendly' matches on the representative side, that the domestic competition has been thrown into chaos.

"I am not complaining about that in itself.

"But what I do object to Is the way these tours are sud-denly thrust upon us with no warning.
"Tours should be properly planned and worked out well in advance, to give the clubs time to prepare for the replaying schedules

'We all know that next year will be a busy one, but at least we know it well in advance.

"Some of this year's tours were very "off the cuff" type affairs, seemingly arranged as an afterthought.

"We concede now that this season is over for us, and that we don't have much of a chance of making the top four this year.

"But now we will start blooding youngsters into the first team.

"We won't go overboard about it, but will give any young player who warrants it, a chance," he said.

"This season has been a vital one for Avala," said Avala spokesman Peter Reijin.
"We have boosted the club in more ways than one.

"Firstly the standard of the team has dramatically improved, and we can now be rated as one of the leading "Secondly, we have re-awaken the interest of our community in the team and in soccer as a whole.

"We have been getting fairly good support, both for the team and for our social functions.

"The team has been playing attractive soccer, but has lacked a bit of physical power.

"We are going ahead with our youth policy - a big step for the club - which we hope will produce a crop of talented young players for future young players years," Peter said.

"The only thing that I would like to see changed in the State league for next season would be the in-troduction of the proposed lower grade re-structuring," said Bankstown's Stan Peck.
"There is a proposal before the Federation to completely revamp the lower grade set up.

"What we want to do is to eliminate the third grade side. "This may sound drastic, but it isn't really.

"What in fact will happen is that we will have first and second grades, then have three sides playing in the Federation junior set up.

"These sides would be Under 14, 16 and 18.
"At present most clubs are facing the burden of supporting six sides," Stan said.

"This proposal only really cuts out the Under13 team, because the Under 18s would be the third grade side.

"But It will provide more scope for the youngsters in the younger age brackets before they get promoted higher.

higher.
"As it is most clubs are putting 16 year olds in their third grade teams.

This system will cut back costs a little and also give the boys a chance to find their feet first before being thrown in at the deep end.

"Also, an under 18 grade would perfectly compliment
the proposed PSL Youth League, and provide future national coaches and State coaches with a ready supply of material for the Young of material for the Socceroos," he added.

"It may take us a while but the club feels certain the district will adopt us," said a Blacktown Clty official this week.
"The area has been crying out for top class soccer and now we aim to provide it.

"The rest of Sydney tends to look down upon Blacktown as a residential area and this has forged a tremendous local esprit de corps within the city.

"We intend to capitalise on this and there is no reason why

'The season has been far too long though and I think the soccer public's interest cannot be held for such an extended

"People like to other sports In summer-or spend time on the beach or at family outings.

"The competition field should be cut and we should play postponed games mid-week.

"We could even play whole rounds midweek to shorten the season but it would be preferable to have less teams and therefore less matches, he added.

"If you ask me what annoyed me most this year, noyed me most this year,I would have to mention two things,"Croatla secretary Peter Lukanic said this wek.

"The first would be the need to play games on Saturdays and the second the 'birth' of this new ASF legislation aimed at banning ethnic club names," he said.

"The first costs us only money—the second threatens our identity and threatens our identity and pride.

"Our feelings on this matter are well known—we will put forward to the public an open letter shortly.

The first point is the less volatile one.

"Playing matches on a Saturday hurts us and also other teams. "Saturday in Sydney is, by

"Saturday in Sydney is,by tradition, a family day.
"People like to go shopping together,spend the day relaxing and perhaps go out in the evening.
"But it's definitely not a good day for soccer.
"Also,many people work in the mornings and don't want to rush off to soccer straight after. after.

"We should stick to Sun-day when we know we can get Lukanic added.

"If there is one thing that has bugged me this season and in fact for many years - it is the quite shocking standard of playing surfaces on Sydney grounds," sald Ku-ring-gal's

Frank Maione.
"It is not so much that the grounds don't have grass cover, or are too small or too big.

"But what is, in my opinion, obnoxious is that the grounds are as hard as cement.

"The simple remedy would be to water the grounds regularly, every seond day in summer, or in especially dry winters. "It amazes me that the groundkeepers don't notice that their grounds dry out so quickly and turn into unplayable areas.

''At times I think it would be wiser for us to park our cars on the ground and play in the parking lots - at least they are

"That is what it all really bolls down to, because if a ground is very hard, the ball tends to jump all around the place.

"To play good soccer you when the need a ground where when the ball is passed you can take your eye off it for a split second without looking back to find it has bounced off a lump or a divet into the path of a striker.

"Some of the grounds - which will remain nameless we have played on this year are terrible.

"There is just no other way to describe them," Frank said.
"I think it is one area where stricter controls from the Federation could be introduced and I feel that unless it is done, the standard of soccer in State League won't markedly improve," he added.

He lived in Canberra for a short while, then at the end of the season he wrote to Manly asking for a trial.

He signed with the club for the 1977 season and became a regular for two years, topping the club's goalscoring charts in 1978.

"Some people have said that this has been a waste of a year for the club," a Marrickville spokesman said last week.

"However, I would deny that.
"This year has been most profitable for us.

"We have established ourselves as a reasonable soccer team, and we aim to further improve that next year.

"Also our club has grown and flourished, and administratively we have benefitted with Lionel Brown joining us at the start of the year.

"He is a great organizer, and helps take the burden off the team coaches on match days.

"Also our junior set up, with roots in the district, is well under way.

"We hope it will bear fruit within the next couple of years, and then we will be able to aim higher," he said.

"One thing that really annoys us, as a club, is the almost total lack of enthusiasm among the Sydney clubs when it comes to promotions," said Inter promotions," said Inter Monaro's Wendy York. "We get the Sydney newspapers here, and we are always amazed not to see news on the State League.

"The people involved with the clubs should be always putting themselves at the disposal of the media, and should always have news, and little tid-bits ready to pass on.

"Also, we have never seen too much activity in the form of posters, leaflets and handouts either.

"If clubs are really serious about pushing their local image they should flood their districts with posters and such like to get the name into the public's mind," Wendy said.

"It has worked, and is working for us in Monaro.

"Admittedly the problem is greater in Sydney, but I doubt whether clubs have tried at the grass roots level top encourage people to go out to games.
"Promotions and things of that nature aren't really up to the Federation, and it is the individual clubs who shouldknuckle down and do some honest work," she said.

"We are still trying to understand what has gone so wrong with the team," said Melita president Emmanuel

Said.
"Our whole club is slightly shocked at the happenings of the past few weeks, as we have seen our once proud team suddenly start to struggle.

"It has come to the stage now where we are relying upon the results and fortunes of others to decide our fate.

"At the start of the season we looked set to have a fine year.

"'Our Ampol Cup performances were exciting, and there was a general feeling of success within the club.

"Now, everything has gone sour.

"A lot of our supporters still feel that the 'Blanco Affair' had a great deal to do with our demise, and I would be hard pressed to argue against that," Emmanuel said.

'One of the most deplorable actions of the year, in our St.George's was poaching of our coach.

"This action threw the team's morale into chaos, disillusioned the supporters of the club, and - It seems - ruined our chances of making the top chances of making the top four," he added.

"I don't really have a big gripe about anything this season," said Parramatta's coach Bob Wall. "I think the Federation has done a fairly good job overall.

"Of course in some areas they have perhaps not done as well as they could.

"But instead of everyone coming down on them like a ton of bricks and heaping abuse upon the Federation, they should come up with constructive criticism and offer advice.

"Perhaps the one complaint I would make would be in relation to the postponement of matches.

"I feel that the Federation should allow more night games - or rather, encourage more night matches, even if they have to be doubleheaders to cut costs.

"The present system of teams doubling up on one weekend is suicidal, because the teams aren't likely to per-form well, nor are the spectators likely to spend their whole weekend watching soccer," Bob said.

"Also I think that we should avoid postponements as much as possible.

"Who as possible."

"We usually call matches off on the weekend of a representative match.
"Why not play a top line State League match as a curtain raiser to the international

"That way you would be guaranteed of having a match which means something, and you may also win over a few people who would otherwise never consider seeing a State League game," he added.

SUTHERLAN

"The critics said it wouldn't work and most of the other clubs believed it;that you coulnd't build a good side on local youngsters," a Sutherland official said this

"But we feel that we have proved them wrong. "Our team has arguably produced some of the most exciting soccer in the Pepsi State League, together with Croatia, Melita and Monaro.

"Of all these teams, though, Sutherland has come closest to formulating a truly Australian style of soccer. "It is based on 100 percent aggression—we never give our opponents a rest.

'We also have a fair degree of skill and tactically we have some enterprising schemes.

"John Watkiss has done wonders with the team.
"He has taken talented youngsters—who abound in the under 16-18 age groups—and given the the team the light exheding and promiting and pro right schooling and prompting to see them through that most difficult period when so many Australian lads are lost to the game. "Now we have Baster-field, Meades, Hall, Schuman and others making themselves a big name in top-flight soccer,"

It is real 'up against the wall' stuff now for Yugal.

Their loss last week, coming as it did with Manly's 'untimely' victory means that Yugal's position does not look good.

A club official was very despondent last week after

Whilst Ava.a increased their chance of reaching this year's semifinals their victory was not convincing as the attack was not up to standard. Ku-ring-gai took an early lead when Firrell used his brilliant ball skills to beat three defenders and the goalkeeper before scoring in the fourth minute. Avala recovered from this early shock and gradually this early shock and gradually got on top. They scored in the 32nd minute after Taylor gave away a penalty and Djurisic slammed the penalty home. Both teams had second-half chances. Miraculous saves kept the score level, until Williams got his shot through a multitude of defenders to gain the vital 2-1 victory.

BANKSTOWN v MANLY 1-2 (1-0)

Two goals in three minutes late in the second half enabled Manly to turn defeat into a vital victory. The first half was played at a terrific pace, and it was impossible to believe that Manly were playing their second game in playing their second game in as many days. In the 17th minute a clearance from Manly's George Townsend landed at the feet of Bankstown skipper John Lee, who made no mistake with Bankstown skipper John Lee, who made no mistake with his shot. Bankstown could have gone further ahead in the 69th minute when front runner Dave Tansley shot instead of lobbing the ball over the 'keeper's head. Manly's equaliser came in the 73rd minute when Townsend moved up unmarked to score a great goal. Three minutes later it was Joe Nawalu who broke clear and scored the Croatia could wrap up the 1979 premiership when they meet Ku-ringgal at Bankstown Soccer Centre on Sunday.

Another big crowd is forecast as they try to put the final seal on their third State League title in as many years.

They now have a seven-point lead over the next club, Inter Monaro, with only four games to go.

In 1977 they won the title by two points from APIA and then in 1978 they held a seven-point margin over Sutherland.

Their great former Soc-eroo captain-coach Atti ceroo Abonyi was on the mark again

He netted eight minutes from the end to earn his team a point against a Marrickville Olympic team that had been determined to topple the leaders.

leaders.
This week's all-Sunday round will be followed on the Wednesday night by two vital deferred games.
They are Sutherland v Blacktown City at Seymour Shaw Park and Ku-ring-gal v Yugal at Englefield Stadium.
Croatia do not have the hardest of draws. After Ku-ring-gal they play Yugal, ring-gai they play Yugal, Marrickville Olympic and Marrickville Olympic and Melita Eagles. Monaro (28 points) play Avala, Arncliffe, Melita and Manly. Avala (25 points) have a tough draw of Monaro, Melita, Ku-ring-gai and Blacktown.

Sutherland (26 points) meet Bankstown, Blacktown, Marrickville, Parramatta and then Blacktown again.

Avala have played one more match than Blacktown, who loom as their biggest semi-finalists at this stage, they could well be Croatia, Monaro, Sutherland, with Molita and Avala.

The going is so close between Blacktown, Melita and Avala that any improvement that Melita make could turn the tables their way.

If Auburn hit their straps

they could make it, but the odds are not short.

YUGAL v BLACKTOWN 0-2 (0-0)

Yugal showed few effects of Saturday's game, and they kept at Blacktown's defence throughout the first half. As the game went on it was Blacktown who gained midfield control and were unlucky to have an offside ruled when Harding headed home. After the break Blacktown put the pressure on the Yugal goal, and were rewarded when Neil Pearson headed in Pena's cross from the right in the 55th minute. Yugal seemed undeterred by this setback, and the match developed into a torrid affair as they tried to salvage a previous point. Their hopes were dashed when playmaker Branko Karanfilovski was Branko

MONARO v MELITA 1-0 (0-0)

This was a very tight game as the points were valuable for both teams. However, the return of Bourke and Giampaolo made the difference to Monaro's teamwork. Monaro's strikers received good service from Morsello who was outstanding in his new position as attacking midfielder while Noble kept his defence well organised to keep out the two menacing Farrugias. For Melita, Hadley was outstanding together with Yamine and kept their slate clean until the 75th minute. Then substitute Heywood received a throughball from the reliable Bourke, made a long dash and passed to Giampaolo who volleyed the ball into the net. Melita tried everything to pull back the deficit but Monaro closed up the game and survived till

PARRAMATTA v SUTHERLAND 0-1 (0-1)

An unfortunate first half goal by defender Kevin Lackey just about ended a fighting chance Parramatta had in making the semifinals. It did, however, entrench Sutherland into the semis even if the Sharks were rather lucky to get both points. The game was a battle played mostly in midfield where defences on both sides reigned supreme and scoring opportunities were quite rare. Sutherland applied the pressure early with good lead up work from Bobby Smith but were met with a tightly knit defence in which even the elusive Peter Beggs hardly found room to move. It dly found room to move. It was from a clever exchange of passes between Beggs and Craig Hall that the unlucky

Lackey headed in his own net in a desperate bid to clear the ball. Billy Frazer and Nelson Brizuela gave the Sutherland defence some anxious moments with their forward trusts and on one occasion Vic Dal Forno came to the rescue clearing off the line with the goalkeeper way out of position.

AND ME SOME MANNER AND

Giampaolo has heartened coach Frank Maccarone and his Monaro team, who should obtain at the very least a point against Avala at Knight Park.

Parramatta have the chan-ce to upset Blacktown at Gabbie Stadium.

In Frank Benito De Valle,
Jimmy Izatt and Alan Fisher, Blacktown have a scoring trio who are hard to match.

Manly will be lucky to contain a more classy Auburn team at home on Cromer

Arncliffe Scots will have to do wonders to dodge relegation, in spite of their superhuman efforts.

At Arlington they will find that "new boy" Marrickville defender John Doyle and the reliable Norm Penman are hard to beat, especially as All El Zein is in good goalkeeping form. Croatla can do better than Croatia can do better than last week. It all depends on whether Wally Savor is back to resume his combination with striker Maurice Sullivan.

They should defeat Ku-ringgai in a tight game, although coach Frank Malone will be searching for an upset.

Melita-Yugal at Garside Park will be a tough game, but Melita Eagles have the forwards to win if they can click properly.

SCANDALS AT N.Y. COSMOS

We have just had the unedifying sight of Pele, proponent of the beautiful game and the man who brought you Love! Love! Love! rushing out on to the field at a Cosmos home game to attack Phil Parkes, goalkeeper of the Vancouver Whitecaps.

Pele, in immaculate civvies being manhandled and restrained by security guards before 48,000 spectators providing the climax to a 14 minute brawl between the Cosmos and the Whitecaps. What is going on here?

What is happening is that nothing seems to be going right for the Cosmos in 1979. Having won the NASL Championship in 1977, and 1978, the Cosmos went off on a badly planned European tour last autumn, and things started to fall apart.

A 7-1 drubbing by Bayern Munich in the first game of the tour brought irate telegrams from the Warner Communications brass—the money-men who own the Cosmos—saying nasty things about the commitment of the players.

The players, and coach Eddie about the commitment of the players.

The players, and coach Eddie Firmani, said equally nasty things about the stupidity of arranging a tour immediately after a hard season, and the even greater stupidity of starting that tour, with the players barely off the plane, against a team as strong as Bayern.

While all this was going on, a press conference was held in New York to introduce the newest Cosmos signing — Francisco

Cosmos signing — Francisco Marinho from Fluminense. Signed evidently, by the management rather than by coach Eddie Firmani

When the 1979 NASL season started, it featured a running battle between Firmani and Marinho.

Management furmed, and eventually told Firmani to start Marinho or else. Firmani did so, and Marinho responded by scoring a hat-trick (from mid-field) in a 3-2 win over Philadelphia.

Which pleased management, obviously didn't help Firmani's case.

From Firmani and from Giorgio

From Firmani and from Giorgio Chinaglia came constant allusions and statements about the "self-ish" players on the team, how they never passed the ball, how all they did was to shoot from far out.

Clearly, Marinho was the target.
The New York press swallowed the villification campaign, and attacked Marinho for not being

The problem became acute with e celebrated "girl in the room" incident.

Firmani brought the team home after a good but hard victory over Toronto (a game in which Marinho had played well and decided they should stay in a hotel with a strict curfew, as they had another game only two days later.

Checking on the curfew, Firmani found a girl(some more lurid reports say it was three girls) in the room that Marinho shared with Carlos Alberto.

Also present in the room was Yugoslav midfielder Vladislav Bogicovic. They were, claims Marinho, playing cards. No matter, Firmani suspended Marinho from the next game. He took no action against Carlos Alberto and Bogicovic.

against Carlos Alberto and Bogicovic.
The team won without Marinho ("The best game we've played so far," said Firmani of an incredibly lacklustre performance) then travelled to Tamps (without Marinho) and lost. The storm clouds were clearly visible over Firmani's head.

But there was also a growing lack of respect for Eddie Firmani: "He doesn't understand modern soccer," said one of the Cosmos stars to me.

A criticism that had been heard A criticism that had been heard before, last season. In fact, during the off-season Firmani made a trip to Europe (after the tour) which was widely believed to be a "learning experience" in which he would observe the working of a couple of top German clubs. "Eddie Firmani Goes to School" as the Italian press had it. The problem was that Firmani went to Europe but didn't turn up where he was supposed to go.

problem was that Firmani went to Europe but didn't turn up where he. was supposed to go. Instead, he signed a Yugoslav goalkeeper. When management heard about that, they chucked their corporate weight about, and the goalkeeper was unsigned with great haste.

On June 1 Eddie Firmani had been fired. The following day, we all trooped out to the Stadium to hear the official Cosmos version of the events. They made sense. Vice president Rafael de la Sierra said: "The team has not been playing well. We're winning, but only just. With our players we should be doing better."

No, he insisted, they didn't have a new coach in mind. For the moment, the coach would be the former assistant under Firmani — Ray Klivecka.

Which was when the press conference began to take on Alice-in-Wonderland aspects.

Only two years ago, Klivecka had been an American college coach, in charge of New York's City College. A post that can hardly be called one of soccer's greatest.

If the players had no respect for Firmani (who, at least, has a substantial playing and international background) how would they have respect for Klivecka?

Within two days, management realized their error. A new appointment was made, Julio Mazzoi, Pele's former trainer, who has been with the Cosmos ever since those halcyon Pele years, was appointed Technical Director.

For those journalists who might have missed the point, the pears, was appointed recinical Director.

For those journalists who might have missed the point, the press release announcing the appointment included a footnote that tersely explained: the technical director "runs the team. He supervises all activities and the coach reports to him". Mazzoi was running the team.

When Firmani was fired, the team had played 11 games with 9 wins and 2 losses. Since then, it has played 11 more games — with 7 wins and 4 losses. Not exactly an improvement.

The team is not playing better—despite the acquisition of Dutch despite the acquisition of Dutch midfielder Johan Neeskens. The frustrations have become almost tangible.

A new coach has not been found. Mazzoi, who is Brazillian is now having problems with fellow-Brazillian Marinho, and with Bogicevic.

Which brings us to the — at the time of writing — nadir of the Cosmos season. Two nadirs, actually. On July 6, the Cosmos were practising in a deserted stadium. Well, not quite deserted There were workers there ed. There were workers there cleaning up the stands. These workers started to get on to the Cosmos, whistling and shouting abuse.

Chinaglia — it would have to Crinaglia— It would have to be Chinaglia—went up into the stands and told them to knock it off. A worker pushed him. He fell backwards over some seats. Other players came rushing up, and a brawl, short and sharp, followed followed.

followed.

When the thing died down, three cleaning-workers were taken to hospital, one of them being kept in for several days.

He has now announced that he is sueing three of the Cosmos players — including Chinaglia — on assault and injury charges.

Then, on July 15, the Vancouver Whitecaps hit town. The signs were anything but propitious.

The Cosmos had lost 4-1 to Vancouver away. They had just were anything but propitious.

The Cosmos had lost 4-1 to Vancouver away. They had just lost their last home game, 1-2 to Seattle (the first time they had been beaten at home in a year).
They were being sued. And Mazzoi annouced that he was dropping Bogicevic and Marinho—and that he was starting Erol Yasin, a perennial non-favourite of the crowd, in goal. The good news was that this game marked the return of Franz Beckenbauer.
With the second half only two minutes old, Vancouver went 2-0 up. Neeskens made it 2-1, Lewington made it 3-1, Chinaglia got it back to 3-2. Then, with 12 minutes left, Vancouver's Willie Johnston and the Cosmos Iranian full back Eskandarian collided and fell to the ground, legs and arms flying.

Players rushed from all sides, pushing, shoving, shouting.
Chinaglia arrived, and kicked at a Vancouver player lying on the ground. He was pulled away by Phil Parkes and Vancouver defender John Craven then hit Chinaglia in the face.
Red cards for Johnston, Eskandarian, Craven and Chinaglia, As darian, Craven and Chinaglia. As Chinaglia, reluctantly, went to leave the field, other Vancouver players taunted him and he started for them.

And on to the field swept Pele, who had been on the Cosmos who had been on the Cosmos bench. His intentions were clearly anything but peaceful.

Worse was to come. After the game, won by Vancouver by 4-2, the referee was beseiged on his way to his locker room, by top Cosmos executives. Choice phrases such as "You're a f..... disgrace," were shouted.

Jay Emmett, a top Warner Communications man, shouted that he wanted, "The Commissioner (Phil Woosnam) in my office at nine tomorrow". A lot of silly things were being said, and more were to follow.

In the Cosmos locker room, Technical Director Julio Mazzoi blamed the whole thing on the referee. "I'm sick and tired of this We're trying to play good soccer.

referee. "I'm sick and tired of this We're trying to play good soccer to raise the game up here, and the referees allow our players to be kicked like this."

Warming to his thesis, he then annouced that the Cosmos would simply ignore the league regulations that demand the one-game suspension (it is the next home game) of players who have been red-carded.
"We shall play both Chinaglia and Eskandarian in our next home game," said Mazzol. "If the league doesn't like it, then we can get out of the league, we can just play tours."
